

Student Assistant (f/m/d)

Online seit 05.02.2025 | 2025-02-05-923798 | Studierendenjob

Stellenbeschreibung

The Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies (MPIfG) currently has an immediate opportunity for a master's student who is enrolled at a university in Germany and interested in working around 12 hours per week as a student assistant for Professor Dr. Wolfgang Streeck on his research project "The Crisis of Contemporary Capitalism".

Anforderungsprofil & Qualifikationen

Your role:

- Collection and collation of historical and economic data
- Internet document search, in particular in newspaper archives
- Administration of project bibliography, blog, and other online communication channels
- General research assistance

What we offer:

- You will work at a renowned research institute in an international environment, with access to the MPIfG's data and library resources and the opportunity to participate in events organized by the Institute. As part of a fixed-term employment contract (WissZeitVG), we offer remuneration in accordance with the Max Planck Society's guidelines on support for junior scientists; the current rates are 13.08 euros per hour for bachelor's students and 13.65 euros per hour for master's students. A collaborative and collegial working environment is integral to the MPIfG. Starting from the application process, we are committed to promoting equality of opportunity for all of our employees. The compatibility of career and family is also one of our key concerns, as is the employment of people with disabilities.

How to apply:

- Please upload your full application documents in English (cover letter, CV, copies of diplomas and current proof of enrolment) as a single PDF to our online application portal. We regret that we cannot consider applications by post or email. The closing date for applications is February 14, 2025.
